Scooter, diagnosed 2005

The diabetes came on quickly then just as quickly, Scooter started losing his eyesight. It was so painful when he would go out to the back yard and get lost, he couldn't find his way back to the house, or if we were on a walk, he would fall off the curb, his crying was a heartbreaker. With the help of a Veterinary Eye Surgery, Scooter is now able to see

Petie "our winery dog" diagnosed 2007

Petie age 8 has spent two days at the animal emergency hospital as well as 7 visits to our local vet. With the help of these fine doctors we have finally stabilized his diabetes with two insulin shots per day.

The animals suffer the same effects as their human counterparts.

Petie has become blind from the diabetes and will be having cataract surgery in February. Aside from a few bumps from walking into walls He is a very happy boy.
